Adeiladu yr Amgylchedd Adeiledig
CBAC Dyfarniad Lefel 1 / 2

Construction is the creation of the built environment. It covers all stages of the construction process, including creating the initial ideas and designs, building the structure and ensuring that everything continues to work smoothly after it is complete. The variety of skills required by the modern construction industry means there is a wide range of career opportunities available.

You could work in the following areas:

- Infrastructure – roads and rail
- Public and private housing
- Public non-housing - schools
- Industrial
- Commercial – offices and retail
- Repair and maintenance

There are over 150 occupations available to start a career in construction.

How shall I learn?

The course consists of 3 units:

- Planning potential of construction projects
- Drawing construction plans
- Building structures and materials

Specialist work experience and site visits will be organised that will directly link the more theoretical aspects of the course completed in school.

How shall I be assessed?

WJEC Design and Built Environment level 2 Award is equivalent to one GCSE qualification at A* - C grade.

Majority of the work is coursework in the form of controlled assessments with 1 online exam and practical assessments.

What is the follow-on to this course?

You could continue their studies at school and Coleg Menai (level 3, higher) adding to their qualifications and specialising in a chosen field, then progress to work in the Construction industry or continue education in university.

Career Ideas.

Examples of careers would include:

Architect, Architectural Technician, Buyer, Computer Aided Designer Technician, Estimator, Site Inspector Plant Technical Support, Roofing Technician, Sales in construction, Site Engineer, Structural engineer, Quantity surveyor, Site manager, Electrical engineer, Mechanical engineer and many more.
