TGCh

This is a two year course at the end of which you will gain the equivalent of ONE GCSE qualification.

The Vocational Award in ICT has been designed to support learners in schools who want to learn about this vocational sector and the potential it can offer them for their careers or further study. It is most suitable as a foundation for further study. This further study would provide learners with the opportunity to develop a range of specialist and general skills that would support their progression to employment.

What will I learn?

UNIT 1: ICT IN SOCIETY [EXAMINATION 1 HOUR 20 MINUTES]

Overview of unit:

This unit allows learners to explore the wide range of uses of hardware, application and specialist software in society. Learners will investigate how information technology is used in a range of contexts, including business and organisations, education and home use of information technology.

UNIT 2: Digital Practices [45 hour Non-Examination Assessment (NEA)]

Overview of unit:

Unit 2 introduces learners to a broad working knowledge of databases, spreadsheets, automated documents and images and enables learners to apply their knowledge and understanding to solve problems in vocational settings

Areas of Content:

- Planning, creating, modifying and using databases
- Planning, creating, modifying and using spreadsheets
- Planning, creating and modifying an automated document
- Planning, creating, manipulating and storing images

How will I be assessed?

Unit 1 – 1 hour 20 minute examination out of 80 marks which is worth 40% of the overall qualification.

Unit 2 – Non-examination assessment out of 120 marks which lasts 40 hours and is worth 60% of the overall qualification. An assignment brief will be provided by WJEC which will include a scenario and several tasks.

What will I need?

Interest in using computers and specialist software to create work of quality in response to the needs of modern requirements in the electronic age. Students must be conscientious and organised to ensure that all aspects of work is completed correctly.

Job Ideas

The qualification is designed for learners who wish to begin their journey towards a career that utilises digital technologies or to progress onto advanced level programmes of learning involving digital technologies.

For further information ask Mrs Catrin Richards.

Why choose GCSE in Built Environment?

The WJEC GCSE in Built Environment offers a learning experience for 14 – 16 year olds which focuses on gaining and applying knowledge, skills and understanding through contextualised tasks and study. It provides an ideal introduction to the built environment.

What will I study?

Unit 1: Introduction to the Built Environment

In this examined unit you will develop knowledge, skills and understanding in the ideas and concepts related to the built environment. This will include the built environment life cycle, structures, materials, sustainability, careers and health & safety.

Unit 2: Creating the Built Environment

In this non-examined assessment unit (NEA) you have a choice of two pathways: Designing the Built Environment - focus is on 2D and 3D drawing skills Constructing the Built Environment – focus is on the development of 2 practical skills You are required to select just one pathway The task in each pathway assesses your knowledge, understanding and skills in relation to identifying, interpreting and calculating information; writing success criteria; carrying out a range of techniques appropriate to the pathway and evaluating tasks.

Unit 3: Exploring the Built Environment

In this non-examined assessment unit (NEA) you will develop knowledge, skills and understanding in relation to the stages of the building life cycle; the stages and processes involved in the design, construction and value & use of the built environment.

How will I be assessed?

Unit 1: Introduction to the Built Environment will be assessed through a written examination.

- 1.5 hours
- 35% of the GCSE
- On-screen
- A range of questions based on ideas and concepts of the built environment

Unit 2: Creating the Built Environment will be assessed through non-examination assessment (NEA): marked by your teacher, externally moderated by WJEC.

- 25 hours
- 40% of the GCSE
- assessment will relate to either Constructing the Built Environment or Designing the Built Environment depending on your choice

Unit 3: Exploring the Built Environment will be assessed through non-examination assessment (NEA): marked by your teacher, externally moderated by WJEC.

- 15 hours
- 25% of the GCSE

Career Ideas.

This GCSE provides you with a general overview of the built environment in addition to developing your abilities in a range of practical skills or design skills. It provides a potentially suitable foundation for further study, an apprenticeship or employment. It will also provide a coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study for you if you do not progress to further study in this subject. In addition, it will introduce you to many new aspects of the built environment which could help you make informed decisions about a wide range of career opportunities.
